Government Information (Public Access) Act 2009 No 52

New South Wales

An Act to facilitate public access to government information.

Part 1 Preliminary

1 Name of Act

This Act is the Government Information (Public Access) Act 2009.

2 Commencement

This Act commences on a day or days to be appointed by proclamation.

3 Object of Act

- (1) In order to maintain and advance a system of responsible and representative democratic Government that is open, accountable, fair and effective, the object of this Act is to open government information to the public by:
 - (a) authorising and encouraging the proactive public release of government information by agencies, and
 - (b) giving members of the public an enforceable right to access government information, and
 - (c) providing that access to government information is restricted only when there is an overriding public interest against disclosure.
- (2) It is the intention of Parliament:
 - (a) that this Act be interpreted and applied so as to further the object of this Act, and
 - (b) that the discretions conferred by this Act be exercised, as far as possible, so as to facilitate and encourage, promptly and at the lowest reasonable cost, access to government information.

4 Interpretation

(1) Key definitions

In this Act:

access application means an application for access to government information under Part 4 that is a valid access application under that Part.

agency means any of the following:

- (a) a Public Service agency,
- (b) a Minister (including a person employed by a Minister under Part 2 of the Members of Parliament Staff Act 2013),

- (c) a public authority,
- (d) a public office,
- (e) a local authority,
- (f) a court,
- (g) a person or entity that is an agency pursuant to regulations under clause 5 of Schedule 4.

Note.

Schedule 4 contains definitions of Public Service agency, public authority, local authority, public office and court. The Information Commissioner publishes a list of agencies and their contact details.

government information means information contained in a record held by an agency.

(2) Other interpretative provisions

Expressions used in this Act that are defined in Schedule 4 have the meanings set out in that Schedule.

Part 2 Open government information—general principles

Division 1 Ways of accessing government information

5 Presumption in favour of disclosure of government information

There is a presumption in favour of the disclosure of government information unless there is an overriding public interest against disclosure.

6 Mandatory proactive release of certain government information

- (1) An agency must make the government information that is its open access information publicly available unless there is an overriding public interest against disclosure of the information.

Note. Part 3 lists the information that is open access information.

- (2) Open access information is to be made publicly available free of charge on a website maintained by the agency (unless to do so would impose unreasonable additional costs on the agency) and can be made publicly available in any other way that the agency considers appropriate.
- (3) At least one of the ways in which an agency makes open access information publicly available must be free of charge. Access provided in any other way can be charged for.
- (4) An agency must facilitate public access to open access information contained in a record by deleting matter from a copy of the record to be made publicly available if inclusion of the matter would otherwise result in there being an overriding public interest against disclosure of the record and it is practicable to delete the matter.
- (5) An agency must keep a record of the open access information (if any) that it does not make publicly available on the basis of an overriding public interest against disclosure. The record is to indicate only the general nature of the information concerned.
- (6) Nothing in this section or the regulations requires or permits an agency to make open access information available in any way that would constitute an infringement of copyright.

7 Authorised proactive release of government information

- (1) An agency is authorised to make any government information held by the agency publicly available unless there is an overriding public interest against disclosure of the information.

- (2) The information that an agency decides to make publicly available is to be made publicly available in any manner that the agency considers appropriate, either free of charge or at the lowest reasonable cost to the agency.
- (3) An agency must, at intervals of not more than 12 months, review its program for the release of government information under this section to identify the kinds of government information held by the agency that should in the public interest be made publicly available and that can be made publicly available without imposing unreasonable additional costs on the agency.
- (4) An agency can facilitate public access to government information contained in a record by deleting matter from a copy of the record to be made publicly available if inclusion of the matter would otherwise result in there being an overriding public interest against disclosure of the record.
- (5) The functions of an agency under this section may only be exercised by or with the authority (given either generally or in a particular case) of the principal officer of the agency.

8 Informal release of government information

- (1) An agency is authorised to release government information held by it to a person in response to an informal request by the person (that is, a request that is not an access application) unless there is an overriding public interest against disclosure of the information.
- (2) An agency can release government information in response to an informal request subject to any reasonable conditions that the agency thinks fit to impose.
- (3) An agency cannot be required to disclose government information pursuant to an informal request and cannot be required to consider an informal request for government information.
- (4) An agency can decide by what means information is to be released in response to an informal request.
- (5) An agency can facilitate public access to government information contained in a record by deleting matter from a copy of the record to be released in response to an informal request if inclusion of the matter would otherwise result in there being an overriding public interest against disclosure of the record.
- (6) The functions of an agency under this section may only be exercised by or with the authority (given either generally or in a particular case) of the principal officer of the agency.

9 Access applications

- (1) A person who makes an access application for government information has a legally enforceable right to be provided with access to the information in accordance with Part 4 (Access applications) unless there is an overriding public interest against disclosure of the information.
- (2) An agency is not subject to the direction or control of any Minister in the exercise of the agency's functions in dealing with a particular access application.
- (3) The function of making a reviewable decision in connection with an access application made to an agency may only be exercised by or with the authority (given either generally or in a particular case) of the principal officer of the agency.

10 Disclosure and access under other laws

- (1) This Act is not intended to prevent or discourage the publication or giving of access to government information as permitted or required by or under any other Act or law that enables a member of the public to obtain access to government information.

- (2) This Act does not affect the operation of any other Act or law that requires government information to be made available to the public or that enables a member of the public to obtain access to government information.

11 Act overrides secrecy provisions in other legislation

This Act overrides a provision of any other Act or statutory rule that prohibits the disclosure of information (whether or not the prohibition is subject to specified qualifications or exceptions), other than a provision of a law listed in Schedule 1 as an overriding secrecy law.

Note. For overriding secrecy laws it is conclusively presumed that there is an overriding public interest against disclosure of the information. Other secrecy laws are to be taken into account as considerations against disclosure in determining whether there is an overriding public interest against disclosure. See section 14.

Division 2 Public interest considerations

12 Public interest considerations in favour of disclosure

- (1) There is a general public interest in favour of the disclosure of government information.
- (2) Nothing in this Act limits any other public interest considerations in favour of the disclosure of government information that may be taken into account for the purpose of determining whether there is an overriding public interest against disclosure of government information.

Note. The following are examples of public interest considerations in favour of disclosure of information:

- (a) Disclosure of the information could reasonably be expected to promote open discussion of public affairs, enhance Government accountability or contribute to positive and informed debate on issues of public importance.
 - (b) Disclosure of the information could reasonably be expected to inform the public about the operations of agencies and, in particular, their policies and practices for dealing with members of the public.
 - (c) Disclosure of the information could reasonably be expected to ensure effective oversight of the expenditure of public funds.
 - (d) The information is personal information of the person to whom it is to be disclosed.
 - (e) Disclosure of the information could reasonably be expected to reveal or substantiate that an agency (or a member of an agency) has engaged in misconduct or negligent, improper or unlawful conduct.
- (3) The Information Commissioner can issue guidelines about public interest considerations in favour of the disclosure of government information, for the assistance of agencies.

13 Public interest test

There is an overriding public interest against disclosure of government information for the purposes of this Act if (and only if) there are public interest considerations against disclosure and, on balance, those considerations outweigh the public interest considerations in favour of disclosure.

14 Public interest considerations against disclosure

- (1) It is to be conclusively presumed that there is an overriding public interest against disclosure of any of the government information described in Schedule 1.
- (2) The public interest considerations listed in the Table to this section are the only other considerations that may be taken into account under this Act as public interest considerations against disclosure for the purpose of determining whether there is an overriding public interest against disclosure of government information.
- (3) The Information Commissioner can issue guidelines about public interest considerations against the disclosure of government information, for the assistance of agencies, but cannot add to the list of considerations in the Table to this section.

- (4) The Information Commissioner must consult with the Privacy Commissioner before issuing any guideline about a privacy-related public interest consideration (being a public interest consideration referred to in clause 3 (a) or (b) of the Table to this section).

There is a public interest consideration against disclosure of information if disclosure of the information could reasonably be expected to have one or more of the following effects:

 - (a) the Freedom of Information Act 1982 of the Commonwealth, or
 - (b) a law of any other State that is prescribed by the regulations as a corresponding law for the purposes of this clause.

15 Principles that apply to public interest determination

A determination as to whether there is an overriding public interest against disclosure of government information is to be made in accordance with the following principles:

- (a) Agencies must exercise their functions so as to promote the object of this Act.
- (b) Agencies must have regard to any relevant guidelines issued by the Information Commissioner.

- (c) The fact that disclosure of information might cause embarrassment to, or a loss of confidence in, the Government is irrelevant and must not be taken into account.

Division 4 Disclosure log of access applications

25 Requirement for disclosure log

An agency must keep a record (called its disclosure log) that records information about access applications made to the agency that the agency decides by deciding to provide access (to some or all of the information applied for) if the information is information that the agency considers may be of interest to other members of the public.

 - (a) the date the application was decided,

- (3) An agency is not required to include in its disclosure log information about any application:
 - (a) for personal information about the applicant (the applicant being an individual) or any other individual, or

32 Confidential information not required to be included in register

 - (c) any matter that could reasonably be expected to affect public safety or security, or
 - (d) a copy of a contract, a provision of a contract or any other information in relation to a contract that is of such a nature that its inclusion in a record would result in there being an overriding public interest against disclosure of the record.
- (2) If an agency does not include a copy of a contract in the register, or includes only some of the provisions of a contract in the register, because of this section, the agency must include in the register:
- (a) the reasons why the contract or those provisions have not been included in the register, and
 - (b) a statement as to whether it is intended that the contract or those provisions will be included in the register at a later date and, if so, when it is likely that they will be included, and

33 Variations to contracts

- (1) If a material variation is made to a contract that would affect the particulars that are required to be included in the government contracts register in relation to the contract, the particulars included in the register are to be amended to reflect the variation within 45 working days after the variation becomes effective.
- (2) If a material variation is made to a contract a copy of which is required to be included in the register, a copy of the variation or the varied provisions is to be included in the register within 45 working days after the variation becomes effective.

34 Minimum public access period for information on register

- (1) Information (including a copy of a contract) required to be included in the government contracts register in relation to a contract is only required to be made publicly available as open access information for the public access period.
- (2) The public access period is whichever is the longer of the following periods:
 - (a) 20 working days,
 - (b) the period until the project to which the contract relates is complete, the goods and services concerned have been provided under the contract, the term of the lease has expired or the real property has been transferred.

35 Register to be published on Government tenders website

- (1) A copy of an agency's government contracts register is to be published on the Government tenders website (that is, the website with the URL of <https://tenders.nsw.gov.au> or such other internet website as the Premier may authorise for the purposes of this section).
- (2) Each of the following agencies is not required to have a copy of its government contracts register published on the Government tenders website but is required to have a copy of the register published on any website of the agency:
 - (a) a State owned corporation or a subsidiary of a State owned corporation,
 - (b) a local authority,
 - (c) a university.
- (3) A copy of an agency's government contracts register is also to be made publicly available in any other manner in which the agency decides to make its open access information publicly available.

36 Disputes

- (1) If a person other than an officer of the agency (including, for example, a party to a government contract) disagrees with the way in which an agency has interpreted its obligations under this Division, the agency is to obtain:
 - (a) the opinion of the Chairperson of the NSW Procurement Board in relation to the matter, or
 - (b) if the principal officer of the agency is the Chairperson of the Board—the opinion of the Minister in relation to the matter.
- (2) This section does not apply to:
 - (a) a State owned corporation or a subsidiary of a State owned corporation, or
 - (b) a local authority, or

(c) a university.

37 Agency obligation to find information

Information is required to be included in an agency's government contracts register only to the extent that the agency holds the information or it is reasonably practical for the agency to obtain the information.

38 Exception for industry support contracts

This Division does not require the Department of State and Regional Development to include any information about or a copy of a government contract in its government contracts register if the contract involves the provision of industry support.

39 Exception for SOCs—competitive neutrality

This Division does not require a State owned corporation or a subsidiary of a State owned corporation to include any information about or a copy of a government contract in its government contracts register if the contract relates to activities engaged in by the corporation or subsidiary in a market in which it is in competition with any other person.

40 Exception for Landcom—contracts for sale of land

This Division does not require Landcom to include any information about or a copy of a government contract in its government contracts register if the contract is a contract for the sale of land.

Note. Any exception under this Division from the requirement to include information about or a copy of a contract on a government contracts register does not of itself constitute grounds for refusing an access application.

Part 4 Access applications

Division 1 Making an access application

41 How to make an access application

- (1) An application or other request for government information is not a valid access application unless it complies with the following requirements (the formal requirements) for access applications:
 - (a) it must be in writing sent to or lodged at an office of the agency concerned,
 - (b) it must clearly indicate that it is an access application made under this Act,
 - (c) it must be accompanied by a fee of $30,
 - (d) it must state a postal address as the address for correspondence in connection with the application,
 - (e) it must include such information as is reasonably necessary to enable the government information applied for to be identified.

Note. See section 51A concerning the effect of a waiver, reduction or refund of the fee for an access application. See also section 52 (3) concerning assistance to be afforded by an agency to an access applicant.

- (2) An agency may, with the approval of the Information Commissioner, approve additional facilities for the making of an access application or the payment of an application fee. An application made to any agency by use of such a facility is considered to have been lodged at an office of the agency and a fee paid by use of such a facility is considered to have accompanied the application.
- (3) An access application is not considered to have been received by an agency until it is actually received by the agency.

42 Inclusion of additional information in applications

An access application can include any of the following:

- (a) submissions by the applicant as to any public interest considerations that the applicant thinks the agency should take into account in determining whether or not there is an overriding public interest against disclosure of the information,
- (b) a request for a discount on processing charges for the application (including relevant supporting information, such as evidence of hardship or special public interest),
- (c) any other information that the applicant thinks may be relevant.

43 Access application cannot be made for excluded information

- (1) An access application cannot be made to an agency for access to excluded information of the agency.

Note. Information is excluded information of an agency if it relates to any function specified in Schedule 2 in relation to the agency.

- (2) An application for government information is not a valid access application to the extent that the application is made in contravention of this section.

Division 2 Transfer, amendment or withdrawal of access applications

44 Ways in which applications can be transferred

An agency that receives an access application for government information can transfer the application to another agency either by agency-initiated transfer or by applicant-initiated transfer, as provided by this Division.

Note. A decision to transfer an application to another agency is reviewable under Part 5.

45 Agency-initiated transfer

- (1) An agency-initiated transfer of an access application to another agency requires the consent of that other agency and cannot be done unless:
 - (a) the other agency is known to hold the information applied for and the information relates more closely to the functions of that other agency, or
 - (b) the agency that receives the application decides that it does not hold the information and the other agency is known or reasonably expected to hold the information.
- (2) An agency-initiated transfer cannot be done more than 10 working days after the application was received.

46 Applicant-initiated transfer

- (1) An applicant-initiated transfer of an access application to another agency cannot be done unless the applicant and the agency to which the application was made agree that the application should be transferred and it appears that the information relates more closely to the functions of the other agency.
- (2) The consent of the other agency is not required for an applicant-initiated transfer and it does not matter whether the agency that is to transfer the application holds the information (or knows whether it holds the information).

47 Notice of transfer of application

An agency that transfers an application must give notice of the transfer to the applicant, advising of the date of transfer and the agency to which it was transferred.

48 Effect of transfer of application

- (1) The agency that transfers an application is not required to refund or transfer the application fee to the other agency but cannot impose any processing charges.
- (2) The agency that transfers an application has no obligation to decide the application.
- (3) An application that is transferred to an agency is deemed to have been received by that agency (on the date that it is received by that agency) as an application made by the applicant to that agency, and is to be acknowledged accordingly by that agency.
- (4) The agency to which an application is transferred is not entitled to charge an application fee for the application but is entitled to impose processing charges in accordance with this Act.

49 Amendment of application

- (1) An access application may be amended by the applicant at any time before the agency decides the application. Notice of the amendment must be received by the agency before the agency decides the application.
- (2) An amendment to reduce the scope of the information applied for does not require the consent of the agency but any other amendment cannot be made without the consent of the agency.
Note. A decision by an agency to refuse to consent to an amendment is not a reviewable decision (but a fresh access application can be made).
- (3) The agency must give notice to the applicant confirming the amendment of an access application and the date on which it was amended if the amendment requires the consent of the agency or the amendment was not made by the applicant in writing.
- (4) An amendment to reduce the scope of the information applied for does not prevent the agency from imposing a processing charge in respect of time spent before the amendment is made in dealing with any aspect of the access application that the amendment makes unnecessary.
- (5) The amendment of an access application does not affect the period within which the application is required to be decided and does not entitle the applicant to a refund or reduction of any application fee or advance deposit already paid.

Note. The period within which an application is required to be decided can be extended by agreement between the agency and applicant.

50 Withdrawal of application

- (1) A person who has made an access application may withdraw it at any time before notice of the agency's decision on the application is given to the person.
- (2) The withdrawal of an application does not entitle the applicant to a refund of any application fee or advance deposit already paid.
- (3) The agency must give notice to the applicant confirming the withdrawal of an access application and the date on which it was withdrawn if the withdrawal was not made by the applicant in writing.

Division 3 Process for dealing with access applications

51 Initial decision as to validity of application

- (1) When an agency receives an application for access to government information that it appears is intended to be an access application, the agency is to decide whether the application is a valid access application and is to notify its decision to the applicant by either:

- (a) acknowledging receipt of the application as a valid access application, or
- (b) notifying the applicant that the application is not a valid access application.

Note. An application is not a valid access application if it is an application for excluded information of the agency or does not comply with the formal requirements for access applications.

- (2) An agency's decision as to the validity of an application must be made and notified to the applicant as soon as practicable after the agency receives the application and in any event within 5 working days after the application is received.

Note. The decision is reviewable under Part 5.

- (3) An acknowledgement of receipt of a valid access application must include the following:
 - (a) the date by which the application is required to be decided (subject to any suspension or extension of the time for deciding an application),
 - (b) a statement that the application will be deemed to have been refused if not decided by the required date,
 - (c) a statement that information about the application may be made public in the agency's disclosure log and that the applicant may object to this (but this statement is not required if the agency considers it unlikely that information about the application will be included in the disclosure log),
 - (d) such details of rights of review in connection with access applications as the Information Commissioner may from time to time direct.
- (4) Acknowledging receipt of an application as a valid access application does not prevent the agency from subsequently deciding that the application is not a valid access application.
- (5) An agency's decision that an application is not a valid access application is presumed to be correct, subject to any review of the decision under Part 5.

51A Effect of waiver, reduction or refund of application fee

- (1) An agency is not to treat an application as being an invalid access application only because of the non-payment of the required application fee if:
 - (a) the payment of the fee was waived by the agency before the application was made, or
 - (b) the amount of the fee payable was reduced by the agency before the application was made and the reduced fee accompanied the application.

Note. Section 127 enables an agency to waive, reduce or refund a fee payable or paid under this Act for an application fee in any case that the agency thinks appropriate, subject to the regulations.

- (2) If an agency waives payment of the required application fee, or reduces the amount of the fee that is payable, after the application is made (and the application would have been valid had the required application fee been paid):
 - (a) in the case of a waived fee—the application becomes a valid access application and is deemed to have been made when the fee was waived, or
 - (b) in the case of a reduced fee—the application becomes a valid access application when the reduced fee is paid and is deemed to have been made when the payment is made.
- (3) The refund of an application fee does not affect the validity of an access application that was duly made.

52 Agency assistance with invalid applications

- (1) The notification of an agency's decision that an application is not a valid access application must:
 - (a) include a statement of the reason why the application is not a valid access application (including reference to the relevant provisions of this Act), and
 - (b) if a reason is non-payment of the required application fee, invite the applicant to pay the fee, and
 - (c) if a reason is failure to provide required information, invite the applicant to provide the information, and
 - (d) notify the applicant of the right of review under Part 5 that applies in relation to a decision that an application is not a valid access application.
- (2) The application becomes a valid access application if the applicant pays the required fee or provides the required information (as appropriate), and is then deemed to have been made when the fee or information was received by the agency.
- (3) An agency must provide advice and assistance, so far as it would be reasonable to expect the agency to do so, to assist an applicant to provide such information as may be necessary to enable the applicant to make a valid access application.
- (4) (Repealed)
- (5) An applicant is entitled to a refund of any application fee that accompanied an invalid access application (unless the application subsequently becomes valid).

53 Searches for information held by agency

- (1) The obligation of an agency to provide access to government information in response to an access application is limited to information held by the agency when the application is received.
- (2) An agency must undertake such reasonable searches as may be necessary to find any of the government information applied for that was held by the agency when the application was received. The agency's searches must be conducted using the most efficient means reasonably available to the agency.
- (3) The obligation of an agency to undertake reasonable searches extends to searches using any resources reasonably available to the agency including resources that facilitate the retrieval of information stored electronically.
- (4) An agency is not required to search for information in records held by the agency in an electronic backup system unless a record containing the information has been lost to the agency as a result of having been destroyed, transferred, or otherwise dealt with, in contravention of the State Records Act 1998 or contrary to the agency's established record management procedures.
- (5) An agency is not required to undertake any search for information that would require an unreasonable and substantial diversion of the agency's resources.

54 Consultation on public interest considerations

- (1) An agency must take such steps (if any) as are reasonably practicable to consult with a person before providing access to information relating to the person in response to an access application if it appears that:
 - (a) the information is of a kind that requires consultation under this section, and
 - (b) the person may reasonably be expected to have concerns about the disclosure of the information, and

- (c) those concerns may reasonably be expected to be relevant to the question of whether there is a public interest consideration against disclosure of the information.
- (2) Information relating to a person is of a kind that requires consultation under this section if the information:
 - (a) includes personal information about the person, or
 - (b) concerns the person's business, commercial, professional or financial interests, or
 - (c) concerns research that has been, is being, or is intended to be, carried out by or on behalf of the person, or
 - (d) concerns the affairs of a government of the Commonwealth or another State (and the person is that government).

Note. The requirement to consult extends to consultation with other agencies and other governments. See the definition of person in Schedule 4.

- (2A) If the agency considers that information about a person consulted under this section is likely to be included in the agency's disclosure log in relation to the access application, the agency must give a written notice to the person containing the following statements:
 - (a) that information concerning the application will be included in the agency's disclosure log and that the person can object to this,
 - (b) that there is a right of review under Part 5 of a decision by the agency to include information in its disclosure log despite the person's objection.
- (3) If consultation is required concerning the release of personal information about a deceased person, that consultation is to be done by consultation with a close relative of the deceased.
- (4) The purpose of consultation under this section is to ascertain whether the person has an objection to disclosure of some or all of the information and the reasons for any such objection.
- (5) The agency must take any objection to disclosure of information that the agency receives in the course of consultation into account in the course of determining whether there is an overriding public interest against disclosure of government information.
- (6) If consultation establishes that a person objects to the disclosure of information but the agency decides to provide access to the information in response to the application, access is not to be provided until the agency has first given the objector notice of the agency's decision to provide access to the information and notice of the objector's right to have that decision reviewed, and is not to be provided while review rights on the decision are pending.
- (7) Review rights on a decision are pending while the objector is entitled to apply for a review of the decision under Part 5 (ignoring any period that may be available by way of extension of time to apply for review), or any review duly applied for is pending.

55 Consideration of personal factors of application

- (1) In determining whether there is an overriding public interest against disclosure of information in response to an access application, an agency is entitled to take the following factors (the personal factors of the application) into account as provided by this section:
 - (a) the applicant's identity and relationship with any other person,
 - (b) the applicant's motives for making the access application,
 - (c) any other factors particular to the applicant.

- (2) The personal factors of the application can also be taken into account as factors in favour of providing the applicant with access to the information.
- (3) The personal factors of the application can be taken into account as factors against providing access if (and only to the extent that) those factors are relevant to the agency's consideration of whether the disclosure of the information concerned could reasonably be expected to have any of the effects referred to in clauses 2–5 (but not clause 1, 6 or 7) of the Table to section 14.
- (4) An applicant is entitled to provide any evidence or information concerning the personal factors of the application that the applicant considers to be relevant to the determination of whether there is an overriding public interest against disclosure of the information applied for.
- (5) An agency may, as a precondition to providing access to information to an applicant, require the applicant to provide evidence concerning any personal factors of the application that were relevant to a decision by the agency that there was not an overriding public interest against disclosure of the information and, for that purpose, require the applicant to provide proof of his or her identity.
- (6) An agency is under no obligation to inquire into, or verify claims made by an access applicant or any other person about, the personal factors of the application but is entitled to have regard to evidence or information provided by the applicant or other person.

Note. An agency is not entitled to impose any conditions on the use or disclosure of information when the agency provides access to the information in response to an access application. See section 73.

56 Authorised objector can object to inclusion in disclosure log

- (1) Each of the following persons (an authorised objector) can object to the inclusion in the agency's disclosure log of all or specified information concerning an access application:
 - (a) the access applicant,
 - (b) any other person with whom the agency has consulted (or is required to consult) under section 54 before providing access to the information sought in the application.
- (1A) An objection can include reasons for the objection and, in the case of an objection by an access applicant, can be made as part of the access application or separately.
- (2) The grounds on which an authorised objector is entitled to object to the inclusion of information in an agency's disclosure log are limited to any one or more of the following:
 - (a) the information includes personal information about the authorised objector (or a deceased person for whom the authorised objector is the personal representative),
 - (b) the information concerns the authorised objector's business, commercial, professional or financial interests,
 - (c) the information concerns research that has been, is being, or is intended to be, carried out by or on behalf of the authorised objector,
 - (d) the information concerns the affairs of a government of the Commonwealth or another State (and the authorised objector is that government).
- (3) An agency's acknowledgement of receipt of an access application is to include the following statements about the inclusion of information in the agency's disclosure log (unless the agency considers it unlikely that information about the application will be included in the disclosure log):
 - (a) a statement that information concerning the application will be included in the agency's disclosure log and that the applicant can object to this,

- (b) a statement about the right of review under Part 5 of a decision by the agency to include information in its disclosure log despite the applicant's objection.
- (4) If an access applicant has objected to the inclusion of information in the agency's disclosure log, the agency's notice of decision of the access application must indicate:
 - (a) the agency's decision about whether the applicant was entitled to object, and
 - (b) (if the agency has decided that the applicant was entitled to object) the agency's decision on whether to include the information in its disclosure log.

Note. The agency's decisions are reviewable under Part 5.

- (4A) If a person referred to in subsection (1) (b) has objected to the inclusion of information in the agency's disclosure log, the agency must, as soon as is reasonably practicable after the decision concerned is made (and in any event within 5 working days after the decision is made), give the person a written notice that indicates:
 - (a) the agency's decision about whether the person was entitled to object, and
 - (b) (if the agency has decided that the person was entitled to object) the agency's decision on whether to include the information in its disclosure log.
- (5) An agency that decides that an authorised objector was not entitled to object to the inclusion of information in the agency's disclosure log is entitled to immediately include the information in the disclosure log.
- (6) An agency that decides that an authorised objector was entitled to object to the inclusion of information in the agency's disclosure log but decides to include the information despite the objection must not include the information while the objector is entitled to apply for a review of the agency's decision under Part 5 (ignoring any period that may be available by way of extension of time to apply for review), or any review duly applied for is pending.

Division 4 Deciding access applications

57 Required period for deciding application

- (1) An agency must decide an access application and give the applicant notice of the agency's decision within 20 working days (the decision period) after the agency receives the application.
- (2) The decision period can be extended by up to 10 working days for either or both of the following reasons (with a maximum extension under this subsection of 15 working days for any particular access application):
 - (a) consultation with another person is required under a provision of this Act,
 - (b) records are required to be retrieved from a records archive.

Note. The decision period can only be extended to allow for mandatory consultation, not just consultation that the agency chooses to do.

- (3) The regulations can also provide for the extension (and further extension) of the decision period.
- (4) The decision period can also be extended (and further extended) by agreement with the applicant.

Note. A decision by an agency to refuse to agree to extending the decision period is not a reviewable decision.
- (5) The agency must as soon as practicable after the decision period is extended (and in any case within 5 working days after it is extended) give the applicant notice of any extension of the decision period (including any extension by agreement with the applicant), indicating the date on which the extended decision period will end.

- (6) An access application is considered to have been decided within time if the agency decides the application and gives the applicant notice of the agency's decision within the decision period. The decision period is also referred to in other provisions of this Act as the period within which an application is required to be decided.

58 How applications are decided

- (1) An agency decides an access application for government information by:
- (a) deciding to provide access to the information, or
 - (b) deciding that the information is not held by the agency, or
 - (c) deciding that the information is already available to the applicant (see section 59), or
 - (d) deciding to refuse to provide access to the information because there is an overriding public interest against disclosure of the information, or
 - (e) deciding to refuse to deal with the application (see section 60), or
 - (f) deciding to refuse to confirm or deny that information is held by the agency because there is an overriding public interest against disclosure of information confirming or denying that fact.

Note. These decisions are reviewable under Part 5.

- (2) More than one decision can be made in respect of a particular access application, so as to deal with the various items of information applied for.
- (3) If an agency finds that information or additional information is held by the agency after deciding an access application, the agency can make a further decision that replaces or supplements the original decision, but cannot be required to make a further decision in such a case. The further decision can be made even if the period within which the application is required to be decided has expired.

59 Decision that information already available to applicant

- (1) An agency can decide that information is already available to an applicant only if the information is:
- (a) made publicly available by the agency or some other agency in accordance with a legislative instrument other than this Act, whether or not availability of the information is by inspection only and whether or not availability is subject to a charge, or
 - (b) available to the applicant from, or for inspection at, the agency free of charge in accordance with this Act or the agency's policies and practices, or
 - (c) contained in a document that is usually available for purchase.
- (2) An agency is not required to provide access to information that the agency has decided is already available to the applicant, but notice of the decision must indicate how the information can be accessed by the applicant.

60 Decision to refuse to deal with application

- (1) An agency may refuse to deal with an access application (in whole or in part) for any of the following reasons (and for no other reason):
- (a) dealing with the application would require an unreasonable and substantial diversion of the agency's resources,

(b) the agency has already decided a previous application for the information concerned (or information that is substantially the same as that information) made by the applicant and there are no reasonable grounds for believing that the agency would make a different decision on the application,

(b1) the applicant has previously been provided with access to the information concerned under this Act or the Freedom of Information Act 1989,

(c) the applicant has failed to pay an advance deposit that is payable in connection with the application,

Note. See section 70.

(d) the information is or has been the subject of a subpoena or other order of a court for the production of documents and is available to the applicant as a result of having been produced in compliance with the subpoena or other order.

(2) In deciding whether dealing with an application would require an unreasonable and substantial diversion of an agency's resources, the agency is not required to have regard to any extension by agreement between the applicant and the agency of the period within which the application is required to be decided.

(3) In deciding whether dealing with an application would require an unreasonable and substantial diversion of an agency's resources, the agency is entitled to consider 2 or more applications (including any previous application) as the one application if the agency determines that the applications are related and are made by the same applicant or by persons who are acting in concert in connection with those applications.

(4) Before refusing to deal with an access application because dealing with it would require an unreasonable and substantial diversion of an agency's resources, the agency must give the applicant a reasonable opportunity to amend the application. The period within which the application is required to be decided stops running while the applicant is being given an opportunity to amend the application.

(5) Notice of an agency's decision to refuse to deal with an access application must state the agency's reasons for the refusal.

(6) An applicant is not entitled to a refund of the application fee when the agency refuses to deal with the application.

61 Notice of decision to refuse to provide access

Notice of an agency's decision to refuse to provide access to information because there is an overriding public interest against disclosure of the information must state the following:

(a) the agency's reasons for its decision,

(b) the findings on any material questions of fact underlying those reasons, together with a reference to the sources of information on which those findings are based,

(c) the general nature and the format of the records held by the agency that contain the information concerned.

62 Notice of processing charges

Notice of an agency's decision to provide access to information must state whether any processing charges will be payable for access to the information and indicate how those charges have been calculated.

63 Deemed refusal if application not decided within time

(1) If an agency does not decide an access application within time, the agency is deemed to have decided to refuse to deal with the application and any application fee paid by the applicant is to be refunded.

Note. A deemed decision to refuse to deal with an application is reviewable under Part 5.

- (2) The deemed refusal to deal with an application does not prevent the agency from continuing to deal with the application and subsequently deciding the application and giving notice of its decision (a late decision) on the application.
- (3) The obligation to refund an application fee to the applicant is not affected by the making of the late decision and the late decision does not entitle the agency to payment of an application fee.
- (4) No processing charge can be imposed for dealing with an access application if the application was not decided within time (whether or not a late decision is made on the application).

Division 5 Processing charges and advance deposits

64 Processing charge for dealing with access application

- (1) An agency may impose a charge (a processing charge) for dealing with an access application at a rate of $30 per hour for each hour of processing time for the application.
Note. The decision to impose a processing charge is reviewable under Part 5.
- (2) The processing time for an application is the total amount of time that is necessary to be spent by any officer of the agency in:
 - (a) dealing efficiently with the application (including consideration of the application, searching for records, consultation, decision-making and any other function exercised in connection with deciding the application), or
 - (b) providing access in response to the application (based on the lowest reasonable estimate of the time that will need to be spent in providing that access).
- (3) The application fee of $30 paid by an applicant counts as a payment towards any processing charge payable by the applicant.
- (4) Access to government information granted in response to an access application may be made conditional on payment of any processing charge imposed for dealing with the application.

65 Discounted processing charge—financial hardship

- (1) An applicant is entitled to a 50% reduction in a processing charge imposed by an agency if the agency is satisfied that the applicant is suffering financial hardship.
Note. The discount applies only to the processing charge, not the application fee. If a 50% reduction in processing charge applies, the application fee will pay for the first 2 hours of processing time (not just the first hour). See section 64.
- (2) The agency may refuse to allow the discount if satisfied that the applicant is making the application on behalf of another person in order to obtain the discount for that person.
- (3) The regulations may prescribe circumstances that constitute financial hardship.

Note. A decision to refuse to reduce a processing charge is reviewable under Part 5.

66 Discounted processing charge—special public benefit

- (1) An applicant is entitled to a 50% reduction in a processing charge imposed by an agency if the agency is satisfied that the information applied for is of special benefit to the public generally.

Note. The discount applies only to the processing charge, not the application fee. If a 50% reduction in processing charge applies, the application fee will pay for the first 2 hours of processing time (not just the first hour). See section 64.

A decision to refuse to reduce a processing charge is reviewable under Part 5.

- (2) If the information applied for was not publicly available at the time the application was received but the agency makes the information publicly available either before or within 3 working days after providing access to the applicant, the applicant is entitled to a full waiver of the processing charge imposed by the agency.
- (3) The Information Commissioner may, for the assistance of agencies, publish guidelines about reductions in processing charges under this section.

67 Waiver of processing charge for personal information application

If an access application is made for personal information about the applicant (the applicant being an individual), the agency cannot impose any processing charge for the first 20 hours of processing time for the application.

Note. This does not limit an agency's power to reduce, waive or refund processing charges under section 127.

68 Advance deposit for payment of processing charge

- (1) An agency may by notice to an applicant require the applicant to make an advance payment of a processing charge (as an advance deposit).

Note. The decision to require an advance deposit is reviewable under Part 5.

- (2) The period within which the application is required to be decided stops running from when the decision to require an advance deposit is made until payment of the advance deposit is received by the agency.
- (3) The notice requiring an advance deposit must:
 - (a) include a statement of the processing charges for work already undertaken by the agency in dealing with the application, and
 - (b) include a statement of the estimated processing charges for work expected to be required to be undertaken by the agency in dealing with the application, and
 - (c) specify a date by which the advance deposit must be paid (being a date at least 20 working days after the date the notice is given), and
 - (d) include a statement that if the advance deposit is not paid by the due date the agency may refuse to deal further with the application and that this will result in any application fee and advance deposit already paid being forfeited.
- (4) An agency can extend the date by which an advance deposit must be paid and is to give the applicant notice of any extension (indicating the new date by which the advance deposit must be paid).

69 Maximum advance deposit

- (1) The maximum advance deposit that can be required is 50% of the amount that the agency estimates to be the total processing charge for dealing with the application (ignoring any reduction in processing charge to which the applicant may be entitled).

Note. An applicant can pay the full amount of the agency's estimate of the total processing charge in advance if the applicant wants to, but the applicant cannot be required to pay more than 50% of the estimate as an advance deposit.

- (2) More than one advance deposit can be required so long as the total of the advance deposits required does not exceed the maximum advance deposit.

70 Result of failing to pay advance deposit

- (1) An agency may refuse to deal further with an access application if the applicant has failed to pay an advance deposit within the time required for payment (unless the applicant has applied for review under Part 5 of the decision to require the advance deposit within the time required for payment of the advance deposit).

Note. The decision to refuse to deal further with an access application is reviewable under Part 5.

- (2) An agency must give notice to the applicant of its decision to refuse to deal further with the application.
- (3) The review under Part 5 of a decision to refuse to deal further with an application for failure to pay an advance deposit is to be a review of both the decision to refuse to deal further with the application and the decision to impose the advance deposit (unless the decision to impose the advance deposit has already been reviewed under that Part).

71 Refund of advance deposit

- (1) An applicant is entitled to a refund of advance deposits paid by the applicant to the extent (if any) that the advance deposits paid exceed the total processing charges payable for dealing with the application.
- (2) An applicant is entitled to a refund of any advance deposit paid if the agency does not decide the access application within time.

Note. An agency cannot impose a processing charge if it does not decide an application within time.

Division 6 How access is provided

72 Forms of access

- (1) Access to government information in response to an access application may be provided in any of the following ways:
 - (a) by providing a reasonable opportunity to inspect a record containing the information,
 - (b) by providing a copy of a record containing the information,
 - (c) by providing access to a record containing the information, together with such facilities as may be necessary to enable the information to be read, viewed or listened to (as appropriate to the kind of record concerned),
 - (d) by providing a written transcript of the information in the case of information recorded in an audio record or recorded in shorthand or other encoded format.
- (2) The agency must provide access in the way requested by the applicant unless:
 - (a) to do so would interfere unreasonably with the operations of the agency or would result in the agency incurring unreasonable additional costs, or
 - (b) to do so would be detrimental to the proper preservation of the record, or
 - (c) to do so would involve an infringement of copyright, or
 - (d) there is an overriding public interest against disclosure of the information in the way requested by the applicant.

Note. Decisions about how to provide access are reviewable under Part 5.

73 Access to be unconditional

- (1) An agency is not entitled to impose any conditions on the use or disclosure of information when the agency provides access to the information in response to an access application.
- (2) A condition may be imposed as to how a right of access may be exercised (such as a condition that prevents an applicant making notes from or taking a copy of a record that is made available for inspection) but only to avoid there being an overriding public interest against disclosure of the information.

- (3) A condition may be imposed that access to medical or psychiatric information will only be provided to a medical practitioner nominated by the applicant and not to the applicant personally.

Note. Access can also be made conditional on the payment of processing charges (s 64) and on the provision of evidence of identity or other personal factors relevant to the agency's decision to provide access (s 55).

74 Deletion of information from copy of record to be accessed

An agency can delete information from a copy of a record to which access is to be provided in response to an access application (so as to provide access only to the other information that the record contains) either because the deleted information is not relevant to the information applied for or because (if the deleted information was applied for) the agency has decided to refuse to provide access to that information.

75 Providing access by creating new record

- (1) An agency is not prevented from providing access in response to an access application to government information held by the agency by making and providing access to a new record of that information.
- (2) An agency's obligation to provide access to government information in response to an access application does not require the agency to do any of the following:
 - (a) make a new record of information held by the agency,
 - (b) update or verify information held by the agency,
 - (c) create new information, or produce a new record of information, by deduction, inference or calculation from information held by the agency or by any other use or application of information held by the agency.

76 Providing access to information not applied for

An agency is authorised to provide access to government information in response to an access application that is in addition to the information applied for, unless there is an overriding public interest against disclosure.

77 Period within which access rights must be exercised

- (1) When an agency decides to provide access to government information the applicant has a period of 6 months (the access period) to access the information.
- (2) The access period starts from when notice of the decision to grant access is given to the applicant (even if access is conditional on payment of any processing charge). If the agency has decided to defer providing access, the access period starts from the end of the deferral.
- (3) The agency may extend and further extend the access period in a particular case by notice to the applicant.
- (4) An access applicant's entitlement to access lapses at the end of the access period.

78 Deferral of access

- (1) An agency that has decided to provide access to government information in response to an access application may defer providing that access if:
 - (a) the information is contained in a record (or a draft of or extract from a record) that, by or under this Act or some other legislative instrument, is required to be published but is yet to be published, or
 - (b) the information is contained in a record (or a draft of or extract from a record) that has been prepared for presentation to Parliament, or that has been designated by the responsible Minister for the agency as appropriate for presentation to Parliament, but is yet to be presented, or

- (c) the information is contained in a record (or a draft of or extract from a record) that has been prepared for submission to a particular person or body, or that has been designated by the responsible Minister for the agency as appropriate for submission to a particular person or body, but is yet to be submitted.

Note. A decision to defer access is reviewable under Part 5.

- (2) Access may be deferred only until the record has been so published, presented or submitted.
- (3) If access is to be deferred, the notice of decision of the access application given to the applicant must state that access is to be deferred and state the date on which access will be provided or (if that date is not known) describe the event following which access will be provided and the expected date of that event.
- (4) If access to information is deferred for more than 12 months, the applicant is entitled to make a further access application for the information. No application fee or processing charge is payable in respect of the further application and access pursuant to the further application cannot be deferred under this section.

79 Provision of information subject to subpoena

- (1) An agency need not comply with a requirement of a subpoena or other order of a court for the production of a document that the person who requested the issue of the subpoena or applied for the order has been given access to by the agency in response to an access application made by the person.
- (2) This section does not apply if the court that issued the subpoena or order specifically orders to the contrary.

Part 5 Review of decisions

Division 1 Reviewable decisions

80 Which decisions are reviewable decisions

The following decisions of an agency in respect of an access application are reviewable decisions for the purposes of this Part:

- (a) a decision that an application is not a valid access application,
- (b) a decision to transfer an access application to another agency, as an agency-initiated transfer,
- (c) a decision to refuse to deal with an access application (including such a decision that is deemed to have been made),
- (d) a decision to provide access or to refuse to provide access to information in response to an access application,
- (e) a decision that government information is not held by the agency,
- (f) a decision that information applied for is already available to the applicant,
- (g) a decision to refuse to confirm or deny that information is held by the agency,
- (h) a decision to defer the provision of access to information in response to an access application,
- (i) a decision to provide access to information in a particular way in response to an access application (or a decision not to provide access in the way requested by the applicant),
- (j) a decision to impose a processing charge or to require an advance deposit,
- (k) a decision to refuse a reduction in a processing charge,

- (l) a decision to refuse to deal further with an access application because an applicant has failed to pay an advance deposit within the time required for payment,
- (m) a decision to include information in a disclosure log despite an objection by an authorised objector (or a decision that an authorised objector was not entitled to object).

81 Extended review period where more than one decision made

When more than one reviewable decision is made in respect of a particular access application and those decisions are made at different times, the period (the review period) within which a person may apply for a review under this Part of any of those decisions is extended to the end of the review period for the last of those decisions.

Division 2 Internal review by agency

82 Right of internal review

- (1) A person aggrieved by a reviewable decision of an agency is entitled to a review of the decision by the agency that made the decision (which is referred to in this Part as an internal review).
- (2) Internal review of a decision is not available if the decision is made by the principal officer of the agency or a Minister (or a member of the Minister's personal staff).
- (3) An internal review can be limited to a particular aspect of a reviewable decision (such as by being limited to particular information to which the decision relates).
- (4) There is to be no internal review of a decision that is or has been the subject of review by the Information Commissioner under this Part except internal review conducted on the recommendation of the Information Commissioner.
- (5) There is to be no internal review of a decision that is or has been the subject of an administrative review by NCAT as provided by this Part.

83 Time within which internal review can be applied for

- (1) Internal review of a decision cannot be applied for more than 20 working days after notice of the decision is given to the access applicant or (in the case of the deemed refusal by an agency to deal with an access application) more than 20 working days after the deemed refusal.
- (2) An agency can agree to accept an application for internal review out of time.
- (3) An agency must acknowledge receipt of an application for internal review by notice to the applicant for review given as soon as practicable after the agency receives the application and in any event within 5 working days after the application is received.

84 Conduct of internal review

- (1) An internal review is to be done by making a new decision, as if the decision being reviewed (the original decision) had not been made, with the new decision being made as if it were being made when the access application to which the review relates was originally received.
- (2) An internal review is not to be done by the person who made the original decision and is not to be done by a person who is less senior than the person who made the original decision.

85 Fee for internal review

- (1) A fee of $40 is payable by the applicant for an internal review.

- (2) No fee is payable for internal review of a decision to refuse to deal with an access application if the decision arises because the agency did not decide the access application within time (and as a result is deemed to have refused to deal with the application).

86 Required period for determination of internal review

- (1) An agency must make its decision on an internal review and give the applicant notice of the agency's decision within 15 working days (the review period) after the agency receives the application for internal review.
- (2) The review period can be extended by up to 10 working days if consultation is required with another person with whom the agency has not previously consulted in relation to the application.
- (3) The agency must (before the review period ends) give the applicant notice of any extension of the review period and indicate the date on which the extended review period will end.
- (4) The review period can also be extended by agreement with the applicant for review.
- (5) If a decision on the internal review is not made within the review period, the agency is deemed to have made that decision by making the original decision again, and the applicant for review is entitled to a refund of any fee paid to the agency for the review.

87 No processing charges for internal review

- (1) An agency is not entitled to impose any processing charges for work done in connection with an internal review.
- (2) This section does not affect any requirement to pay a processing charge imposed in connection with the original decision (unless the decision on the internal review otherwise requires).

88 No internal review of decision on internal review

A person is not entitled to an internal review of a decision made on the internal review of a reviewable decision.

Division 3 Review by Information Commissioner

89 Right to have decision reviewed by Information Commissioner

- (1) A person aggrieved by a reviewable decision of an agency is entitled to have the decision reviewed by the Information Commissioner under this Division.
- (2) A reviewable decision must be the subject of an internal review by the agency under this Part before it can be reviewed by the Information Commissioner unless:
 - (a) the aggrieved person is the access applicant, or
 - (b) an internal review of the decision is not available to the aggrieved person under this Part.
- (3) The Information Commissioner may exercise any function of the Information Commissioner under the Government Information (Information Commissioner) Act 2009 for the purposes of or in connection with the review of a reviewable decision of an agency.
- (4) Conduct of an agency that constitutes a reviewable decision of the agency cannot be the subject of a complaint to the Information Commissioner under section 17 of the Government Information (Information Commissioner) Act 2009.

90 Time limit for applying for review by Information Commissioner

An application for the review of a decision by the Information Commissioner must be made within 40 working days after notice of the decision to which the review relates is given to the applicant.

91 Disclosure of public interest information

The Information Commissioner must not, in the exercise of functions in connection with a review under this Division, disclose any information for which there is (or for which an agency claims there is) an overriding public interest against disclosure.

92 Recommendations on review

- (1) On a review of a decision under this Division, the Information Commissioner may make such recommendations to the agency about the decision as the Information Commissioner thinks appropriate.
- (2) The recommendations specifically provided for by this Division do not limit the recommendations that the Information Commissioner can make.

93 Recommendation for reconsideration of matter by agency

- (1) The Information Commissioner may recommend that the agency reconsider the decision that is the subject of the Information Commissioner's review and make a new decision as if the decision reviewed had not been made.
- (2) The agency may, pursuant to such a recommendation, reconsider the decision and make a new decision, whether or not the decision has already been the subject of internal review by the agency.
- (3) The agency's reconsideration of a decision is to be by way of internal review of the decision (under Division 2) unless the decision has already been internally reviewed, in which case the agency is to reconsider the decision and make a new decision.
- (4) Unlike an internal review, the reconsideration of a decision that is not an internal review:
 - (a) can be done by the person who made the original decision, and
 - (b) can be the reconsideration of a decision made by the principal officer of the agency.
- (5) The reconsideration of a decision that is not an internal review cannot be done by a person who is less senior than the person who made the original decision.
- (6) No fee is payable for any reconsideration (including by way of an internal review) of a decision pursuant to a recommendation of the Information Commissioner.

94 Recommendation as to public interest against disclosure

- (1) The Information Commissioner may make a recommendation against a decision of an agency that there is an overriding public interest against disclosure of government information.
- (2) The Information Commissioner must consult with the Privacy Commissioner before making a recommendation under this section about a decision that concerns a privacy-related public interest consideration (being a public interest consideration referred to in clause 3 (a) or (b) of the Table to section 14).
- (3) Despite section 91, the Information Commissioner may disclose information to the Privacy Commissioner in the course of consulting with the Privacy Commissioner under this section.

95 Recommendation as to general procedure of agency

The Information Commissioner may make a recommendation that any general procedure of an agency in relation to dealing with access applications be changed to conform to the requirements of this Act or to further the object of this Act.

96 Information Commissioner may refuse to review decision

The Information Commissioner may refuse to review or to deal further with a review of a decision of an agency if the Information Commissioner is satisfied that:

- (a) the application for review is frivolous, vexatious, misconceived or lacking in substance, or
- (b) the review would require an unreasonable and substantial diversion of the resources of the Information Commissioner, or
- (c) the applicant for review has failed without reasonable excuse to co-operate with the Information Commissioner in connection with the review, or
- (d) the applicant for review cannot by reasonable efforts be contacted by the Information Commissioner.

97 Onus on agency to justify decisions

- (1) In any review under this Division concerning a decision made under this Act by an agency, the burden of establishing that the decision is justified lies on the agency, except as otherwise provided by this section.
- (2) If the review is of a decision to provide access to government information in response to an access application, the burden of establishing that there is an overriding public interest against disclosure of information lies on the applicant for review.
- (3) If the review is of a decision to refuse a reduction in a processing charge, the burden of establishing that there is an entitlement to the reduction lies on the applicant for review.

98 No review of decisions administratively reviewed by NCAT

A decision is not to be the subject of review by the Information Commissioner under this Division if the decision is or has been the subject of an administrative review by NCAT.

99 Referral of agency decision to NCAT

The Information Commissioner may, with the consent of the applicant for review, refer a decision of an agency that is the subject of a review by the Information Commissioner under this Division to NCAT for an administrative review.

Division 4 Administrative review by Civil and Administrative Tribunal

100 Administrative review of decision by NCAT

A person who is aggrieved by a reviewable decision of an agency may apply to NCAT for an administrative review under the ADR Act of the decision (referred to in this Division as an NCAT administrative review).

Note. A reviewable decision does not have to be internally reviewed or reviewed by the Information Commissioner before it can be the subject of an NCAT administrative review.

101 Time for applying for NCAT administrative review

- (1) An application for NCAT administrative review must be made within 40 working days after notice of the decision to which the review relates is given to the applicant (unless subsection (2) gives a longer period to apply for NCAT administrative review).

- (2) If the decision is the subject of review by the Information Commissioner, an application for NCAT administrative review can be made at any time up to 20 working days after the applicant is notified of the completion of the Information Commissioner's review.
- (3) If an application for NCAT administrative review of a decision is made while the decision is the subject of review by the Information Commissioner, the Information Commissioner's review is to end.
- (4) NCAT may, on application by a person wanting to make an application for NCAT administrative review out of time, extend the time for the making of such an application by the person if NCAT is of the opinion that the person has provided a reasonable excuse for the delay in making the application.
- (5) An application to extend the time for the making of an application for NCAT administrative review must be in writing unless NCAT dispenses with the requirement in a particular case.
- (6) The time for making an application for NCAT administrative review may be extended under this section even if that time has expired.

102 No internal review under ADR Act

- (1) The procedure for internal review of a decision provided for by this Part applies to the exclusion of section 53 (Internal reviews) of the ADR Act in the case of a decision that is a reviewable decision under that Act.
- (2) A reference in the ADR Act to internal review of a reviewable decision under that Act is, in its application to a reviewable decision under this Part, to be read as a reference to internal review of the decision under this Part.

103 Operation of other ADR Act provisions

The provisions of section 58 (Duty of administrator to lodge material documents with Tribunal where decision reviewed) and Division 2 (Effect of pending applications on reviewable decisions) of Part 3 of Chapter 3 of the ADR Act do not apply to an application for NCAT administrative review under this Division.

104 Right of appearance before NCAT

- (1) The Information Commissioner has a right to appear and be heard in any proceedings before NCAT (and proceedings on an appeal in respect of any such proceedings) in relation to a review under this Division.
- (2) The Privacy Commissioner has a right to appear and be heard in any proceedings before NCAT (and proceedings on an appeal in respect of any such proceedings) in relation to a review under this Division of a decision that concerns a privacy-related public interest consideration (being a public interest consideration referred to in clause 3 (a) or (b) of the Table to section 14).
- (3) Any person who could be aggrieved by a decision of NCAT on a review under this Division has a right to appear and be heard in any proceedings before NCAT in relation to the review.

105 Onus on agency to justify decisions

- (1) In any review under this Division concerning a decision made under this Act by an agency, the burden of establishing that the decision is justified lies on the agency, except as otherwise provided by this section.
- (2) If the review is of a decision to provide access to government information in response to an access application, the burden of establishing that there is an overriding public interest against disclosure of information lies on the applicant for review.
- (3) If the review is of a decision to refuse a reduction in a processing charge, the burden of establishing that there is an entitlement to the reduction lies on the applicant for review.

106 Decisions about Cabinet and Executive Council information

- (1) On an NCAT administrative review of a decision by an agency that there is an overriding public interest against disclosure of information because the information is claimed to be Cabinet or Executive Council information (as described in Schedule 1), NCAT is limited to deciding whether there were reasonable grounds for the agency's claim and is not authorised to make a decision as to the correct and preferable decision on the matter.
- (2) If NCAT is not satisfied, by evidence on affidavit or otherwise, that there were reasonable grounds for the claim, it may require the information to be produced in evidence before it.
- (3) If NCAT is still not satisfied after considering the evidence produced that there were reasonable grounds for the claim, NCAT is to reject the claim when determining the review application and may then proceed to make a decision as to the correct and preferable decision on the matter.
- (4) NCAT is not to reject the claim unless it has given the Premier a reasonable opportunity to appear and be heard in relation to the matter.
- (5) The Premier is a party to any proceedings on an application under this section.

107 Procedure for dealing with public interest considerations

- (1) In determining an application for NCAT administrative review, NCAT is to ensure that it does not, in the reasons for its decision or otherwise, disclose any information for which there is an overriding public interest against disclosure.
- (2) On an NCAT administrative review, NCAT must receive evidence and hear argument in the absence of the public, the review applicant and the applicant's representative if in the opinion of NCAT it is necessary to do so to prevent the disclosure of information for which there is an overriding public interest against disclosure.
- (3) On an NCAT administrative review, NCAT must, on the application of the Minister administering this Act or the agency, receive evidence and hear argument in the absence of:
 - (a) the public and the applicant, and
 - (b) the applicant's representative if NCAT is of the opinion that it is necessary to do so to prevent the disclosure of information for which there is, or for which there could be or is claimed to be, an overriding public interest against disclosure.

108 Delayed decisions

- (1) NCAT may on the application of an agency make an order allowing the agency further time to decide an access application if the decision that is the subject of NCAT administrative review is a decision the agency is deemed to have made because the access application or internal review concerned was not decided within time (referred to in this section as a deemed refusal decision).
- (2) Such an order may be made subject to such conditions as NCAT thinks fit, including either of the following conditions:
 - (a) a condition that if a decision is made to provide access to the information concerned during the further time allowed, any charge that would otherwise be payable in connection with providing that access is to be reduced or waived and the applicant for the NCAT administrative review may apply to NCAT for an order that the applicant's costs in proceedings on the NCAT administrative review are to be paid by the agency,
 - (b) a condition permitting the agency to impose processing charges for work done in connection with the access application (as if the application had been decided within time).

- (3) If an agency makes a reviewable decision (the subsequent decision) on an access application following a deemed refusal decision on the application and while the deemed refusal decision is the subject of NCAT administrative review, NCAT may on application by the applicant deal with the application for NCAT administrative review as if it were an application for review of the subsequent decision.

109 NCAT may refuse to review decision

NCAT may refuse to review or to deal further with a review of a decision of an agency if NCAT is satisfied that the application for review is frivolous, vexatious, misconceived or lacking in substance.

110 Orders to restrain making of unmeritorious access applications

- (1) NCAT may order that a person is not permitted to make an access application without first obtaining the approval of NCAT if NCAT is satisfied that the person has made at least 3 access applications (to one or more agencies) in the previous 2 years that lack merit. Such an order is a restraint order.
- (2) An access application is to be regarded as lacking merit if:
 - (a) the agency decided the application by refusing to deal with the application in its entirety, or
 - (b) the agency decided the application by deciding that none of the information applied for is held by the agency, or
 - (c) the access applicant's entitlement to access lapsed without that access being provided (including as a result of failure to pay any processing charge payable).
- (3) A restraint order may be made to apply to all access applications made by the person the subject of the order or may be limited by reference to particular kinds of information or particular agencies.
- (4) A person who is subject to a restraint order cannot apply to NCAT for approval to the making of an access application by the person without first serving notice of the application for approval on the agency concerned and the Information Commissioner.
- (5) An application for a restraint order against a person may be made by an agency that receives an access application from the person (whether or not the agency has decided the application) or by the Minister or the Information Commissioner.
- (6) NCAT may order that a person who is the subject of a restraint order is not permitted to apply to NCAT for approval to make an access application if NCAT is satisfied that the person has repeatedly made applications for approval that are lacking in substance.
- (7) While a restraint order is in force against a person, any application for government information made to an agency in contravention of the order is not a valid access application.

111 Referral of systemic issues to Information Commissioner

NCAT may refer any matter to the Information Commissioner that NCAT considers is indicative of a systemic issue in relation to the determination of access applications by a particular agency or by agencies generally.

112 Report on improper conduct

If NCAT is of the opinion as a result of an NCAT administrative review that an officer of an agency has failed to exercise in good faith a function conferred on the officer by or under this Act, NCAT may bring the matter to the attention of the Minister who appears to NCAT to have responsibility for the agency.

112A Relationship of Division with ADR Act and NCAT Act

The provisions of this Division are intended to prevail to the extent of any inconsistency with provisions of the ADR Act or the NCAT Act.

Part 6 Protections and offences

Division 1 Protections

113 Protection in respect of actions for defamation or breach of confidence

- (1) If government information is disclosed pursuant to a decision under this Act, and the person by whom the decision is made believes in good faith, when making the decision, that this Act permits or requires the decision to be made:
 - (a) no action for defamation or breach of confidence lies against the Crown, an agency or an officer of an agency by reason of the making of the decision or the disclosure of information, and
 - (b) no action for defamation or breach of confidence in respect of any publication involved in, or resulting from, the disclosure of information lies against the author of a record containing the information or any other person by reason of the author or other person having supplied the record to an agency.
- (2) Neither the giving of access to information pursuant to a decision under this Act nor the making of such a decision constitutes, for the purposes of the law relating to defamation or breach of confidence, an authorisation or approval of the publication of a record containing the information or its contents by the person to whom the information is disclosed.

114 Protection in respect of certain criminal actions

If government information is disclosed pursuant to a decision under this Act, and the person by whom the decision is made believes in good faith, when making the decision, that this Act permits or requires the decision to be made, neither the person by whom the decision is made nor any other person concerned in disclosing the information is guilty of an offence merely because of the making of the decision or the disclosing of information.

115 Personal liability

No matter or thing done by an agency or officer of an agency, or by any person acting under the direction of an agency or officer of an agency, if the matter or thing was done in good faith for the purposes of executing this Act, subjects the officer or person so acting, personally to any action, liability, claim or demand.

Division 2 Offences

116 Offence of acting unlawfully

An officer of an agency must not make a reviewable decision in relation to an access application that the officer knows to be contrary to the requirements of this Act.

Maximum penalty: 100 penalty units.

117 Offence of directing unlawful action

A person (the offender) must not:

- (a) direct an officer of an agency who is required to make a decision in relation to an access application to make a reviewable decision that the offender knows is not a decision permitted or required to be made by this Act, or

- (b) direct a person who is an officer of an agency involved in an access application to act in a manner that the offender knows is otherwise contrary to the requirements of this Act.

Maximum penalty: 100 penalty units.

118 Offence of improperly influencing decision on access application

A person (the offender) who influences the making of a decision by an officer of an agency for the purpose of causing the officer to make a reviewable decision that the offender knows is not the decision permitted or required to be made by this Act is guilty of an offence.

Maximum penalty: 100 penalty units.

119 Offence of unlawful access

A person who in connection with an access application knowingly misleads or deceives an officer of an agency for the purpose of obtaining access to government information is guilty of an offence.

Maximum penalty: 100 penalty units.

120 Offence of concealing or destroying government information

A person who destroys, conceals or alters any record of government information for the purpose of preventing the disclosure of the information as authorised or required by or under this Act is guilty of an offence.

Maximum penalty: 100 penalty units.

Part 7 Miscellaneous

121 Provision of information by private sector contractors

- (1) An agency that enters into a contract (a government contract) with a private sector entity (the contractor) under which the contractor is to provide services to the public on behalf of the agency must ensure that the contract provides for the agency to have an immediate right of access to the following information contained in records held by the contractor:

- (a) information that relates directly to the performance of the services by the contractor,
- (b) information collected by the contractor from members of the public to whom it provides, or offers to provide, the services,
- (c) information received by the contractor from the agency to enable it to provide the services.

Note. A reference in this Act to government information held by an agency includes information held by a private sector entity to which the agency has an immediate right of access. See clause 12 of Schedule 4. This means that an access application can be made to the agency for that information.
