

Time to wriggle down and dirty with your food scraps

Register now for a free sustainability workshop at your Centre in 2022

Delivered by Macarthur Centre for Sustainable Living

Choose from worm farming or composting

10 sessions available, each valued at over $500

Receive a bonus worm farm or compost bin

This project is a NSW Environment Protection Authority Waste Less, Recycle More initiative funded from the waste levy.

Requirements to participate:

While we can provide the workshop to you free of charge we will need some information from you.

The only requirement is for the centre to measure the food waste they divert from landfill for one week (after installation of the hardware), provide this information to the contact details below and participate in our follow up survey within 3 months.

This is required by the NSW Environment Protection Authority as part of the agreement to fund this program.

We will provide a booklet to each participating centre at the workshop to record this information.

To register:

Email the below details to, wasteservice@campbelltown.nsw.gov.au

- Centre name and address
- Contact name and phone number
- Let us know if you want worm farming or composting for your workshop
- Preferred dates (please choose 3 dates in case your preferred date has been booked)

Available dates:

All workshops run from 10:30am to 12pm
